PASTOR ADAM AZIZ
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Pastor Adam Aziz serves as the Executive Director of Judah Bible College and Executive Pastor at Metro Tab Church in Chattanooga, Tennessee. Coming from a heritage of Spirit-filled, apostolic church leadership and church planting, Pastor Adam has spent his entire life immersed in the work of the local church and the equipping of believers for the ministry.

For over 20 years, he has served at Metro Tab Church in nearly every leadership capacity — youth and kids ministry, worship, small groups, hospitality, and more. This experience uniquely positions him to lead Judah Bible College in forming Spirit-filled leaders.

His ministry is marked by an unrelenting burden for souls. Whether teaching, preaching, writing, or training leaders, his driving cry is “souls, souls, souls” — to see lives transformed by the gospel. He is an author of several books, the host of The Hard Truth Podcast, and the founder of Deeper, a global online Bible study that reaches thousands of viewers across North America, South America, Europe, and Africa. He has recorded multiple worship albums, written curriculum and Bible studies, trained dozens of leaders, and preached at churches and conferences across the country.

Pastor Adam holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration and Organizational Leadership from Southern New Hampshire University, with additional studies in Pastoral Ministry at Lee University. He is also a certified personal trainer through ISSA, bringing a holistic conviction about the stewardship of body, mind, and spirit to his leadership.

Pastor Adam and his wife, Pastor Olivia Aziz, make their home in Chattanooga, Tennessee, where they serve their church family with passion, conviction, and joy.
